Fund management comment

Concerns over the French national budget temporarily pushed yields on 10-year OATs above 5%, whereas Bunds (German federal bonds) were in high demand. Their 10-year yield fell by 26 basis points (bp) over the course of the month. Inflation in the Eurozone is expected to remain elevated in October. In contrast, German inflation slowed to 2.8% thanks to a temporary fuel tax cut. France surprisingly recorded a GDP decline of 0.1% in the third quarter. The ECB left key interest rates unchanged but discussed a potential hike for December. The short-term market turbulence also left its mark on corporate bonds. Consequently, credit spreads in Euro In-vestment Grade rose by 15 bp and in the HY (High Yield) segment by 59 bp in October. In addition, new issuance volume remained below the previous year's level, though it recently revived slightly, supported among others by a two-tranche deal from Heineken.

BVI method: The charts and tables regarding performance shown here are based on own calculations according to the method developed by the German Investment Funds Association (BVI). They illustrate past performance. Future performance can deviate both positively and negatively from these calculations. Gross performance (BVI method) takes into account all charges at fund level (e.g. management fee), net performance plus the issue surcharge. As no issue surcharge is incurred for this share class the gross performance corresponds to the net performance. Additional charges can arise for individual investors (e.g. custody account fees, commissions and other fees). Also, fees may be charged for the administration of the safe custody account, which will lower the performance. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.

SFDR: SFDR is short for "Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation". Under the SFDR, financial products must disclose information on how sustainability is taken into account, with the disclosure requirements varying depending on the type of consideration (Article 6, Article 8 or Article 9 SFDR).
