Berenberg Variato M A

Actively managed multi asset fund

Investment Strategy

Berenberg Variato features an active investment approach without a benchmark, bundling Berenberg's best ideas. Strategic long-term positions in attractive capital markets segments are completed with thematic investments (e.g. megatrends) and opportunistic tactical positions. Investment vehicles are individual securities, mutual funds, ETFs and derivatives. Risk sensitivities are managed via overlay ex post. The target is to achieve attractive returns at the expense of a temporary higher volatility.

Fund management comment

The positive trend on global financial markets continued in May. The MSCI World Index rose by 4.4% in USD (+4.9% in EUR), with all major equity markets posting gains. Emerging market equities once again performed particularly strongly, rising by 9.5%, driven mainly by technology stocks. Overall, market activity was shaped by continued AI optimism and a significant fall in energy prices. Whilst technology shares posted the strongest sector performance at +15.9%, energy and utility stocks came under pressure. The picture on the bond markets was mixed. In the US, yields rose across the entire yield curve, particularly as a result of a more hawkish tone at the US Federal Reserve meeting. In Germany and the UK, by contrast, yields fell, particularly at the short end. Risk premiums on investment-grade and high-yield bonds continued to narrow in both Europe and the US. The US dollar rose slightly, whilst Brent crude oil fell by just under 20%. Gold once again failed to benefit from geopolitical uncertainties and fell by 1.7% month-on-month. In this environment, the Variato achieved a significantly positive return thanks to core investments in US large-caps and European micro-caps, as well as in thematic equities from the cybersecurity, automation and technology sectors – including ASML, Keyence Corp. and Alphabet – and was able to further build on its positive performance since the start of the year. Tactical investments in a South African platinum mining operator and a US drone manufacturer also made a positive contribution to performance. Overall, all three components of the core, thematic and tactical portfolios thus contributed positively to performance in May.

Opportunities:

- Attractive return potential over the medium to long term
- Aboveaverage performance by exploiting investment opportunities across regions and asset classes, focusing on attractive market segments and structural investment themes
- Possible additional returns through active and opportunistic management

Risks

- High volatility of equities, riskier bonds and currencies, price losses possible
- Share value may fall below the purchase price at which the client acquired the share
- No guarantee of success due to active and opportunistic management
- Entering into index and currency futures to manage quotas may increase the risk of loss, at least temporarily

Further details on the opportunities and risks of this fund can be found in the sales prospectus.

Returns on investments in foreign currencies may increase or decrease due to currency fluctuations. The purchase, holding, conversion or sale of a financial instrument, as well as the use or termination of an investment service, may give rise to costs that affect the expected income. In the case of investment funds, you should always make an investment decision on the basis of the sales documents (key information document, presentation of past performance, sales prospectus, current annual, if applicable, semi-annual report), which contain detailed information on the opportunities and risks of the relevant fund. An investment decision should be based on all characteristics of the fund and not just on the sustainability-related aspects. Sustainability related disclosures can be found at www.berenberg.de/en/esg-investments. In the case of securities for which a securities prospectus is available, investment decisions should always be made on the basis of the securities prospectus, which contains detailed information on the opportunities and risks of this financial instrument, otherwise at least on the basis of the product information document. A fund investment involves the purchase of shares in an investment fund, but not a specific underlying asset (e.g. shares in a company) held by that fund. The fund is subject to increased volatility as a result of its composition/the techniques used by Fund management; therefore, unit prices may increase or decrease significantly within short periods of time. BVI method: The charts and tables regarding performance shown here are based on own calculations according to the method developed by the German Investment Funds Association (BVI). They illustrate past performance. Future performance can deviate both positively and negatively from these calculations. Gross performance (BVI method) takes into account all charges at fund level (e.g. management fee), net performance plus the issue surcharge. As no issue surcharge is incurred for this share class the gross performance corresponds to the net performance. Additional charges can arise for individual investors (e.g. custody account fees, commissions and other fees). Also, fees may be charged for the administration of the safe custody account, which will lower the performance. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance.

SFDR: SFDR is short for "Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation". Under the SFDR, financial products must disclose information on how sustainability is taken into account, with the disclosure requirements varying depending on the type of consideration (Article 6, Article 8 or Article 9 SFDR).
