Berenberg Merger Arbitrage R A

Actively managed market-neutral strategy

Investment Strategy

The Berenberg Merger Arbitrage is an equity-based absolute return fund that pursues a specialised merger arbitrage strategy. The fund aims to achieve absolute returns while protecting investors' capital by exploiting price differences arising from publicly announced mergers, acquisitions, corporate restructurings or similar transactions. The fund aims to achieve long-term capital growth and outperform the money market (as measured by the €STR).

The fund's investment strategy aims to generate attractive absolute returns, regardless of general stock market performance. Due to its historically low correlation with traditional market indices, the fund offers investors diversification within the overall portfolio. Through broadly diversified investments in various M&A transactions, sectors and regions, the fund aims to achieve a stable risk/return profile with low volatility. The investment strategy aims to exploit inefficiencies in the pricing of company acquisitions and mergers and is based on the difference between the market price of a target company and the announced acquisition price.

Performance

In accordance with the EU regulation "MiFID" (Markets in Financial Instruments Directive), as well as its implementation in national law, information on performance may only be shown if it covers a period of at least 12 months.

Fund management comment

At month-end, the Berenberg Merger Arbitrage Fund was fully invested across 48 positions: 38% in Europe, 50% in North America, and 12% in APAC. Following a volatile September marked by rather sharp swings in Covestro and Kellanova, as well as the rare "black swan" break of Integrum's deal in Sweden — now confirmed by the regulator as a takeover code violation — October brought a positive reversal and steady recovery. As expected, the Covestro spread stabilized after positive updates on the ADNOC takeover, while volatility in Kellanova and several other positions like Frontier subsided, supporting renewed M&A momentum into year-end. Several deals closed successfully (e.g. Just Eat Takeaway, Verona Pharma, Spirent), and price bump-related gains in Bavarian Nordic and Grupo Catalana Occidente contributed positively to the monthly fund return. The announcement of multiple new deals, including the largest LBO in M&A history involving video game producer Electronic Arts, signals growing confidence among dealmakers in the current regulatory and financing environment. Overall, the backdrop for dealmaking into year-end appears highly robust, with a constructive outlook for 2026.

Opportunities:

- Attractive potential returns on stocks in takeover situations
- Stocks involved in takeovers generally demonstrate greater stability compared to broader market trends
- Potential additional returns through analysis of individual stocks and situations and active management
- Consistent hedging of currency risks

Risks

- A stocks may fall below the purchase price at which it has been acquired
- Equities are highly volatile and subject to price losses
- Equities may temporarily underperform in takeover situations
- The success of individual stock analysis and active management is not guaranteed
- The use of derivatives to facilitate certain investment management techniques, including building both 'long' and 'synthetic short' positions and creating market leverage to increase a fund's economic exposure beyond the value of its net assets, may cause the funds' overall risk profile to increase
- A positive return is not guaranteed. The performance of a merger arbitrage strategy may diverge from broader equity market trends, as both upward and downward stock price movements can affect its overall value
