Euromoney: Berenberg is the “Best Equity House in Germany”

Berenberg was named “Best Equity House in Germany” at the Euromoney Awards for Excellence last night in London. The award was presented by the well known finance magazine Euromoney, with Germany’s oldest private bank beating previous winners Goldman Sachs and Morgan Stanley, as well as Deutsche Bank who had held the title for the last three years.

Hendrik Riehmer, personally liable partner at Berenberg, who received the award in London, commented: “We are proud to receive an award so well renowned in the financial world. The title underlines our commitment as an independent German bank to provide both companies in Germany and international investors with first class investment banking services.” The bank’s research department was also commended.

In 2014, Berenberg managed the highest number of IPOs and capital raisings in German-speaking Europe.

About Berenberg

Established in 1590, Berenberg is one of the leading privately owned banks in Europe today, focusing on four operating divisions: Private Banking, Investment Banking, Asset Management and Corporate Banking. The Hamburg-based bank with a strong presence in London, Zurich, Frankfurt and New York has 19 offices in Europe, America and Asia and is managed by personally liable partners. With a firm grasp of our traditions, we have 1,250 staff driving our business into the future.

Berenberg opened its London office in 2003 and the Bank’s multi-awarded European equity and economic research team is now based there with over 80 analysts covering approximately 25 sectors. Having established a reputation as a centre of excellence, Berenberg launched its London based Private Banking and Asset Management operations in 2011.
