

IMPORTANT DISCLOSURES IN RELATION TO INVESTMENT RECOMMENDATIONS

The Market Abuse Regulation (EU) 596/2014 and UK Market Abuse Regulation (MAR) requires that where a communication constitutes an “investment recommendation”, certain disclosures must be provided, including statements as to certain potential conflicts of interest. This page provides access to the relevant disclosures and information on recommendations that have been issued by those employees on the Sales, Sales Trading and Trading desks at Joh. Berenberg, Gossler & Co. KG (Berenberg) during the previous 12 months, for information purposes only (for recommendations and relevant disclosures issued by the Berenberg Research department, as part of investment research, please go to click here). Should you have any questions on the information provided, please refer to your usual Berenberg contact.

An investment recommendation issued by Sales, Sales Trading and Trading should be regarded as a marketing communication, is not intended to be investment research, has not been prepared in accordance with legal and regulatory requirements to promote the independence of investment research and is not subject to any prohibition on dealing ahead of dissemination. It is not investment advice and investors must make their own determination and investment decisions. Neither this communication nor any recommendation is a solicitation to buy or sell any product, or to engage in, or refrain from engaging in, any transaction.

1. Risk factors

Prices and availability of financial instruments are subject to change without notice and a recommendation is not representation that a transaction can be effected at a particular price or at all. Instruments can fluctuate in price or value and prices, values or income may fall against your interests. Investment transactions can lead to losses as a result of such fluctuations and other factors. Changes in rates of exchange, rates of interest, economic indicators and the financial standing of any issuer or reference issuer may have an adverse effect on the value, price or income of these instruments.

Past performance is not a guide to future performance. Illiquid instruments may be difficult to sell; it may also be difficult to obtain reliable information about their value or the extent of the risks to which they are exposed and you may lose all the amount originally invested or deposited or be required to make future payments. Any forward-looking information contained in a recommendation has been prepared on the basis of a number of assumptions any of which may prove to be incorrect, and accordingly actual results may vary.

To the fullest extent permitted by law, neither Berenberg nor any of its employees accepts responsibility for and shall have any liability for any loss (including without limitation direct, indirect, consequential and loss of profit), damages, or for any liability to a third party however arising in relation to a recommendation (including without limitation in relation to any projection, analysis, assumption and opinion in such recommendation) or from the use of any information contained in the relevant communication.

2. Own assessment

Opinions, estimates and projections constitute the current judgment of the individual at the time a recommendation is made. They do not necessarily reflect the opinions of Berenberg or any of its departments, including Research, and are subject to change without notice. To the extent that a recommendation provided is aligned to the views expressed by the Berenberg Research department, please contact your usual Berenberg representation for an explanation of the valuation or methodology and the underlying assumptions.

A recommendation does not constitute a personal recommendation or take into account the individual financial circumstances or objectives of any investor. Recipients must independently determine, in consultation with their own advisers, whether a recommendation is appropriate for their purposes. Recommendations are directed at institutional clients who have professional experience as defined by applicable law and/or regulation in the relevant jurisdiction, are not for retail clients and are not for distribution into any jurisdiction where this information is not permitted.

Berenberg accepts no responsibility and no representation or warranty, express or implied, is made as to the accuracy, reliability or completeness of the source of information used in the creation of a recommendation, or the reasonableness of any projections, targets, estimates, or forecasts (or whether they are achievable or will occur).

3. Relevant time and date for price of financial instrument in recommendation

The price of any financial instrument mentioned in a recommendation is the price as of the date of publication of such recommendation and the time stated in such recommendation.

4. Planned frequency of updates to recommendation

Berenberg has no obligation to update, modify or amend any recommendation or to otherwise notify a recipient thereof if any opinion, forecast or estimate contained in a recommendation changes or subsequently becomes inaccurate. We have no schedule for issuing recommendations and they are issued whenever we consider it relevant.

5. Meaning of recommendations

| Recommendation | Meaning of recommendation |
|-----------------------|--|
| Positive | Recommends buying/holding more/initiating a ‘long’ exposure in a particular issuer/financial instrument. |
| Negative | Recommends selling/holding less/initiating a ‘short’ exposure in a particular issuer/financial instrument. |

6. Recent previous different recommendations

Recommendations may differ over time. Recommendations contained in one type of Berenberg communication may differ from recommendations contained in other Berenberg communications, whether as a result of differing time horizons, methodologies or otherwise.

7. Management of conflicts of interests

Berenberg has systems and controls in place for the identification, avoidance, management and disclosure, as appropriate, of conflicts of interests that may arise in the preparation or provision of investment recommendations, including for example:

- (a) Internal policies, procedures, guidance and regular training on the identification of possible conflicts of interest as and when they arise;
- (b) Escalation procedures for ensuring that identified conflicts of interest are considered at the appropriate level within the bank;
- (c) Maintenance of information barriers between different parts of the bank to restrict the flow of inside information so as to avoid inadvertent spread or misuse; and
- (d) Restrictions on personal account dealing and procedures and controls relating to wall crossing.

8. Conflicts of interest

Recommendations issued by Sales, Sales Trading and Trading should not necessarily be considered to be either objective or unbiased. Berenberg may engage in transactions, for its own account or with customers, in a manner inconsistent with the views taken in a recommendation. Berenberg may (i) act as a market-maker (ii) deal as principal (iii) have managed or co-managed a public offering for the issuer, which is the subject of a recommendation (iv) be party to an agreement with the issuer, that is the subject of a recommendation, relating to the provision of services of investment firms (iv) provide liquidity in instruments referred to in any recommendation and (v) have, or be seeking to develop, an investment banking or corporate banking relationship with issuers mentioned in a recommendation. Berenberg or its employees may from time to time have long or short positions in such instruments referred to in a recommendation. Accordingly, information referred to in a recommendation may not be independent from the proprietary interests of Berenberg and its affiliates, which may conflict with your interests and affect the objectivity of relevant recommendations.

Employees responsible for the provision of a recommendation may be paid in part based on the profitability of Berenberg which includes investment banking, sales and trading, and principal trading revenues.
