Please note: You are about to purchase a product that is not simple and may be difficult to understand.

I. What is this product?

Type: The product is an "over-the-counter" (OTC) European Foreign Exchange Call Option (Short) derivatives contract.

Term: The expiration date of the product is March 15, 2023. The term of the product is 58 days. The product does not provide the option that if certain extraordinary events occur, you and/or the product manufacturer can terminate the product early. Therefore the product cannot be terminated. You may nevertheless enter into an additional counter transaction that offsets the economical effect of this contract. The performance scenarios and cost tables below refer to the recommended holding period of 58 days. As the figures are not annualized, they cannot be compared to figures from products with a recommended holding period greater than 1 year or a different recommended holding period.

Objectives: The product is a complex financial instrument linked to the exchange rate between Euro (EUR) and US Dollar (USD) (the underlying).

By entering into this product, you sell the right (the option) to purchase EUR against USD, at a specified exchange rate (the strike) in an amount equal to the contractual amount depending on the level of the underlying on a given date (the expiration date). For granting this right, you receive a premium (the option premium) from the purchaser of the option contract (Berenberg).

On the expiration date:

- If the underlying appreciates, for example where the exchange rate between EUR and USD is above the strike, Berenberg may exercise the option and your resulting loss may potentially be unlimited. You will make a positive return on your investment if the exercise value (the difference between the prevailing exchange rate at the expiration date and the strike) does not exceed the option premium received.
- If the underlying depreciates, for example where the exchange rate between EUR and USD is below the strike, Berenberg may not exercise the option and your gain will correspond to the option premium you have received.

The product does not pay any interest or other periodic amount during its lifetime.

II. What are the risks and what could I get in return?

Summary Risk Indicator

Lower Risk < 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 > Higher Risk

The risk indicator assumes you keep the product until March 15, 2023. You may not be able to end early. You may have to pay significant extra costs to end early.

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you. We have classified this product as 7 out of 7, which is the highest risk class. This rates the potential losses from future performance at a very high level, and poor market conditions are very unlikely to impact the capacity of Berenberg to pay you. Be aware of currency risk if the currency of the country in which you purchase the product or your account currency differs from the product's settlement currency. You will receive payments in a different currency, so the final return you will get depends on the exchange rate between the two currencies. This risk is not considered in the indicator shown above. This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could incur significant losses. If we are not able to pay you what is owed, you could incur significant losses.

Performance Scenarios

What you will get from this product depends on future market performance. Market developments in the future are uncertain and cannot be accurately predicted. The scenarios shown are illustrations based on results from the past and on certain assumptions. Markets could develop very differently in the future.

Recommended holding period:	58 days
Example nominal:	EUR 10,000
	If you exit after 58 days

Scenarios

Minimum		You could lose some or all of your investment.
Stress	What you might get back or pay after costs Percentage return	EUR -1,260 -12.6 % (*)
Unfavourable	What you might get back or pay after costs Percentage return	EUR -320 -3.2 % (*)
Moderate	What you might get back or pay after costs Percentage return	EUR 10 0.1 % (*)
Favourable	What you might get back or pay after costs Percentage return	EUR 10 0.1 % (*)

(*) The return is calculated as a percentage over the notional amount.

The figures shown include all the costs of the product itself, but may not include all the costs that you pay to your advisor or distributor. The figures do not take into account your personal tax situation, which may also affect how much you get back. The stress scenario shows what you might get back in extreme market circumstances. The favourable, moderate and unfavourable scenarios are based on forward simulations of the underlying's values, extrapolating their historic trend and adding fluctuations similar to those observed in the past 5 years. They are ranked according to resulting redemption value and represent a top 10%, a median and a bottom 10% scenario respectively. This product cannot be easily cashed in. If you exit the investment earlier than the recommended holding period you may have to pay extra costs.

III. What happens if Berenberg is unable to pay out?

If the product manufacturer becomes insolvent or otherwise unable to deliver under the product, you should in the worst case be prepared to suffer a total loss of your investment. Your loss would not be covered by any investor compensation or guarantee scheme.

IV. What are the costs?

The person advising on or selling you this product may charge you other costs. If so, this person will provide you with information about these costs and how they affect your investment.

Costs over time
